

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Deluxe Editions of Lost in Oz hit stores this Halloween!

September 22, 2007 –Recent literary release, Lost in Oz, is getting a fresh start with the release of a hardcover deluxe edition!

The new edition of the hit novel, that has sold tens of thousands of copies since its release, will feature more artwork, as requested by young fans.

"At all my appearances the children who have read my book have only one wish," Joshua Dudley, author of the novel laughs. "They want more pictures!"

Wish granted! Not only will the book feature more art by original Oz artists W.W. Desnlow and John R. Neill, but original artwork by the author will also be displayed with pride.

"It's so exciting to express myself in multiple ways and I happy to share some of my artwork."

Joshua also states that the deluxe edition has had a few story updates and he feels that the book is finally perfect in his eyes. After the deluxe edition is released, fans should keep their eyes peeled in March of 2008 for the highly anticipated sequel, "Lost in Oz Rise of the Dark Wizard."

Lost In Oz is available now at all online retailers including, Barnes and Noble, Target and Borders.
